To whom it may concern:

I'd like to borrow this moment to voice my comments on the Microsoft antitrust settlement.

It is my belief and assessment that the settlement which is currently being proposed is totally against of the American Public's interest, as Microsoft is clearly found to be monopoly in the findings of fact in the trial.

Using a series of questionable business/engineering practices to gain software market share has put Microsoft at such unreachable place that the current proposed settlement is not going to be effective at all to bring it down to fair competing level.

It is ironic that this email is being written in hotmail which was "purchased" by Microsoft..

thank you,

J. Hong
